«The Journal of Epigraphic Studies» (JES) is a new international journal in the field of Greek and Latin epigraphy launched by Fabrizio Serra editore Srl, an authoritative international academic press based in Pisa and Rome and Italy's foremost publisher of scholarly journals among which are «Quaderni Urbinati di Cultura Classica» and «Studi Ellenistici». Each year, hundreds of new inscriptions on stone and on various materials are discovered throughout the areas corresponding to the Ancient Greek and Roman civilizations. This fresh evidence is continuously renewing, and sometimes challenging, our views on Greek and Roman history.

AIM OF THE JOURNAL

«The Journal of Epigraphic Studies» intends to play a major role in this process and aims to foster the study of Greek and Latin inscriptions, from the beginning of the alphabetic writing in the Greek world during the 8th century BC down to Late Antiquity and the Early Byzantine period. It welcomes the publication of new material (in Greek, Latin, or in other languages closely related to the Greek and Roman cultures) from all parts of the Ancient World, reassessments of already known inscriptions, as well as groundbreaking papers on various aspects of Greek and Roman history relying mostly on epigraphic evidence. The first issue of the journal, to be published in 2018, will include initial statements by Prof. Angelos Chaniotis and by Prof. Alison Cooley giving an overview on, and an assessment of, the main interests and challenges of the current research in the field of Greek and Latin epigraphy.

CALL FOR PAPERS FOR THE FIRST ISSUE (2018)

«The Journal of Epigraphic Studies» accepts articles written in English only, up to 12,000 words (including final bibliography and footnotes). The submission deadline for the first issue is January 31, 2018. Submitted articles are peer-reviewed by an international Editorial Committee. In order to ensure impartiality, submitted papers are circulated at the Editor-in-Chief's discretion to members of the Editorial Committee without indication of authorship. Authors may be asked by the Editorial Committee to revise their papers in light of the comments and suggestions made by the referees. Accepted articles will be published in the first issue of the journal in late 2018. Further articles may be already submitted for the issue number two of the journal, to be published in late 2019.

HOW TO SUBMIT AN ARTICLE?

Articles, without indication of authorship, should be submitted electronically as attached Word Documents (.doc file) together with a PDF version to the following email address: jes@libraweb.net. Articles should comply with the specific editorial rules of «The Journal of Epigraphic Studies» issued by the publisher Fabrizio Serra editore Srl accessible through: www.libraweb.net.

HOW TO SUBSCRIBE?

«The Journal of Epigraphic Studies» will be issued once a year in both electronic and hard-copy forms. A special launching discount price will be offered to the participants in the 2017 AIEGL Epigraphic Congress in Vienna for every subscription made until December 31, 2017: see order form on the back of this flyer.
